ACCESSORIES & SHOES

yoko wool slippers (llac)

i wear these indoor slippers every waking moment in the winter. they are so warm and every landing is so soft!

happy pig designs' fingerless gloves, upcycled from cashmere sweaters (charcoal and lavender) my right hand becomes particularly cold to the touch when the temperature drops. my doctor friend says it's bc the body is circulating the available blood away from my extremities and my vital organs or smth? these gloves keep my hands warm while not getting in the way of my typing. the only complaint i have is that the lavender option is really pink.

astrid & miyu crystal cluster huggies in gold these are my first pair of huggies. they are basically tiny hoop earrings that hug the lobe, and have a hinged clasp mechanism. i've dropped and failed to locate many earring backs so really appreciate having ones that don't fully detach as my everyday pair. they go well with every outfit too!

merrell women's moab 2 (birthday collection ♡)

i take a walk everyday and ever since i got this pair of shoes, i have never worn anything else on my walks. they are comfortable and waterproof, perfect for the weather here. every time they get muddy, i'm always so surprised at how easy it is to clean them. they are also as cute as hiking shoes get?

AROUND-THE- HOUSE

waterpik cordless select a dentist once told me that my teeth are triangle shaped so food is more likely to get stuck. sucks for me but at least i have discovered water flossing! a game changer. water splashes everywhere in the process so i only use this in the shower but i'm never looking back.

midori a5 dot grid notebook

i have this notebook within reach all the time in case the universe wants to talk. it's smooth to write on and ink doesn't bleed. i even bought a midori paper pad recently for memos i dont have to keep around for long. i deserve to only write on nice paper!

ceramic mugs (round about ceramics, harriet cheal, muni studios)

i drink coffee and! tea pretty much everyday and it makes me so happy to drink out of these vessels. i have already decided on the next 3 mugs that i'm gonna get >:)

stickiiclub subscription

i love stickers. i don't even have that much use for them because there really are only that many surfaces i can stick stickers on but that isn't going to stop me from buying them all. with stickiiclub, every month, you get a handful of sticker sheets based on the given theme + an extra goodie (eg memo sheets/a stamp etc. the stickers are commissioned from different independent artists every month so there's great variety. so much value for what it costs. highly recommend!

madebysunday blue magic

a stranger told me my skin was glowing once and i know it's because i used this facial oil that day. it's moisturising and leaves the perfect sheen. unfortunately, madebysunday is currently closed but i believe they are planning to rebrand and start over sometime this year. i will be keeping a look out and yes, i bought spare bottles before they shut.

chocolate redondo

every time i'm looking for a lil snack, i'm always extra grateful when i have a redondo tin around. the chocolate/wafer ratio is very generous so i'm usually satisfied after just one wafer. a tin lasts forever!

merlta bird id

i enjoy identifying birds i spot and i mostly manage because of this app. the sound id feature is especially fun and so well executed.

kinopio

when an idea first arises, there's still so much shaping, transforming, deleting, expressing before you can arrive at a semblance of a place. kinopio is perfect for making sense of this in between state. it's also one of the few apps that are a constant reminder of the magic in software.

@chrissttiiiine's general favorites videos

i enjoy folding clothes because it's also youtube time. if christine's monthly favs shows up in my subscription, that's what i'm watching first. she's so calm, sincere and covers a really diverse range of things. it inspired this zine :-)

saga's letter column

saga is one of the most popular ongoing comic series and for good reason. i picked it through the compendium so #55 was the first time i saw the letter column at the end. these used to be so popular in magazines! after reading a submission, i like wondering about what that person thinks the current issue.

when i was home last year, my dad, brother and i started watching attack on titans together. it was my first anime (not counting pokemon and digimon) and i'm so mad that i slept on the medium for this long!!! i have finished ranking of kings and vinland saga since as well and really enjoyed all of them. i'm looking forward to making my way through past hits slowly!

EXPERIENCES

doing swaps

i did a couple of swaps with strangers via snail mail over the last year and they were so much fun! reading a profile that someone wrote about themselves, looking through your stash or going to the stores to pick something up for them with intention, sending it off with a note and then receiving what they got for you a few weeks later is a special kind of connection, the kind that says i'm glad we could have this small interaction that's only possible because we share a time and space and that's enough even if our paths never cross again.

doing the same thing again and again

I'm a huge fan of collecting different kinds of experiences and just living possibilities but more recently, I have learnt to find joy in repetition. One form of this is taking the same path on my daily walk. I have probably walked it hundreds of times by now and I'm amazed at the things you start to see once you start to feel like you have seen it all.
